DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wygodny et al.

Wygodny et al teaches,

Regarding claims 1, 2, 16, 18, 19 and 33

- analyzing a computer script to generate a plurality of comments about the computer script, each comment of the plurality of comments corresponding to a particular portion of the computer script, each comment identifying a property of the corresponding portion of the computer script (see figures 1A-1C, 2, column 3, lines 1-11, “the option editor... later use”);

- reordering the plurality of comments so as to group together sets of comments having substantially similar identified properties (column 5, lines 40-53, “the user 110 runs... by the developer”); and
- generating a result comprising a subset of the plurality of comments ordered in grouped sets (column 6, lines 11-20, “the user sends... log file 122”).

Wygodny et al teaches,

Regarding claims 3, 5, 9, 10, 12, 15, 17, 20, 22, 26, 27, 29 and 32

- sub-grouping together at least one subset of at least one of the grouped sets of warning messages, wherein each subset of warning messages identifies potential errors with respect to a particular aspect of the computer program (figure 1B, 2, column 2, lines 13-27, “the imbedded code...desired code”).

Wygodny et al teaches,

Regarding claims 4, 6, 21 and 23

- the particular aspect of the computer program comprises at least one of a variable, an object, an object reference a location in the computer program, and a condition (column 15, lines 2-14< “the developer can choose... options windows”).

Wygodny et al teaches,

Regarding claims 7, 8, 11, 13, 24, 25, 28 and 30

Art Unit: 2124

- the generated result further comprises, for each grouped set, a representative suggested-fix heuristic representing the substantially similar associated suggested-fix heuristic (column 26, lines 43-63, "catching of breakpoints... address to execute").

Wygodny et al teaches,

Regarding claims 14 and 31

- the substantially similar associated suggested fix heuristic of each grouped set of warning message at a time (column 2, lines 13-27, "the imbedded code...desired code").
